NETWORK CHALLENGE

Back when the multichannel universe was a crystal ball fantasy, the Big Four networks ruled the ratings roost. Today, they're in a war with rival satellite and specialty channels. These were the relatively modest services which were laughed at during their inception, but have since claimed sizeable chunks of the viewership pie for themselves.

It's a different playing field as ABC, CBS, Fox and NBC pull out all the stops to recapture the glory days when they once shared more than 90 per cent of the market. That's why the hype surrounding the annual fall show rollout has a bit more urgency to it this time. Roy Urrico looks at the new season and evaluates the potential for success—or failure—on Page 8.

Aside from the four networks, you still have hundreds of other options, including wild feeds, to flip through on your big dish. What's more, northern residents have the advantage of checking out additional Canadian programming via ExpressVu and Star Choice. In response to a number of requests concerning how any of these systems can be amalgamated into a C-band setup, Ken Nelson offers two innovative solutions on page 10.

With all the new programming changes, we encourage you to keep up with them by using your trusty issue of SEG. Along with regulars Dear SEG, Lifestyles, Pics of the Month, Satellite News and Product Update, there's enough here to give your remote control/page-flipping thumb a total workout!

Sparkle plenty

■ DEAR SEG,

We have a Starz/Encore package which has an Encore channel on G7-11. This channel has very bad "sparkle." All other channels on this satellite, which are open, are clear. Would you have any idea why this could be?

Bert McAmmond
Candle Lake, SK

Dear Bert:

If you had Golf G7, 7 in your package and it also has sparklies, we'd have the exact answer for your problems on G7, 11.

Both Golf and Encore are unique in having wide-bandwidth digital TV transponders as immediate neighbors. Many older IRDs do not have very tight filtering at the lower and upper edges of the transponder, but this makes very little difference if the neighboring transponders are normal or VC2 channels. Put digital channels on both sides and a lot of interference will pour into the video.

If your IRD features a T1 filter, try that. If it's a Monterey with variable bandwidth IF, back the bandwidth down. For older IRDs with a 70 MHz or 130 MHz external loop, there are loop filters available that will cure the false TI.

ATLANTIS

After the migration of G2 to 99 degrees west longitude, fans of Gene Roddenberry's Earth Final Conflict have been able to catch wild feeds of the sci-fi show, last seen at G2, 24.

■ DEAR SEG,

I would like to know why the Galaxy 6 satellite has the G2 call sign.

MicroAccess
via Internet

Dear MicroAccess:

The G2 notation is for easy record-keeping. The satellite belt is expensive real estate and when a tenant moves out or passes away, another relative moves into the same house. G2 was the first tenant of the 74-degree slot and when it was retired in 1994, G6 took the spot. Next bird into here is G11, but does your IRD allow 11 in the name? G2 is a prime candidate for the name of the next occupant, for simplicity's sake.

GOLDEN EMMY MOMENTS

BY TARA BLASCO

Murphy Brown*'s Candice Bergen: Five-time Emmy winner.

With the Primetime Emmy Awards celebrating 50 years of handing out trophies this month, here's a look at some milestones from TV's most cherished podium:

•Mary Tyler Moore and Dinah Shore each own eight Emmys—the most for a female performer.

•Meanwhile, Mary's old boss, Ed Asner, has seven Emmys in the male category—one more than TV's favorite sewer worker, Art Carney.

•Murphy Brown's Candice Bergen has five Emmys for playing the same role in the same series.

•The first time was sweet for ER and Hill Street Blues, who share the most Emmy wins (eight) in a single season—during their premiere seasons.

• NBC may be Must See TV now, but it still has to catch CBS for most Emmys won in a single year by a network, which was 44 during the 1973-74 season.

Will other records be broken? Find out when the Emmys air Sept. 13 at 8 p.m. (ET) on NBC.

READY, SET, RECORD!

We learned years ago not to rearrange our schedules to see the launch of much-anticipated season premieres—thanks only to the invention of the VCR. But is your VCR close to needing repair? Not if you follow these guidelines:

1. Set up your VCR where it can have some extra space to itself. Power supplies can overheat and shut down if stifled.

2. Use wet cleaning tapes for your video heads monthly. The dry ones rub the video head the wrong way—too brusquely.

3. Be attentive. Have a look if anything has ventured into your VCR. Unplug it first, then take off the top. Vacuum (gently) any dust or anything else that has ventured into the box. Do not touch anything inside!

LeAnn Rimes gets cheesey.

CHEESE BIZ

Is LeAnn Rimes, the youngest Country Music Association award winner ever, planning to be the big cheese at the next CMA awards bash? If she is, she may enlist the services of her aunt Laura, the creator of this macaroni and cheese delight. You can also catch her and other country big cheeses on the CMA show, airing Sept. 23 at 8 p.m. on CBS.

AUNT LAURA'S MACARONI & CHEESE

INGREDIENTS

1 package of macaroni
1 package of mild cheddar cheese
2 tbsp. butter
1 tsp. sugar
salt & pepper
whole milk

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Boil macaroni until soft
2. Slice cheese into about 3" long thin slices
3. Grease large, clean casserole dish (9" x 13") with butter or corn oil
4. Drain macaroni, add two tablespoons of butter and mix. Also add salt, pepper and sugar
5. Put half of macaroni into casserole dish then put a layer of cheese over it. Drop small pieces of butter on top
6. Make another layer repeating the same procedure. Cover with whole milk (leaving 2" from top of dish, because milk will boil over)
7. Bake at 350° for 35-45 minutes.

SEPTEMBER PICS

NBC

Getting cheeky: The boys from The Full Monty grin and bare it.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS

Charles Dickens buffs stayed away in droves when this adaptation of the classic novel came out. After all, how can anyone get away with changing the setting from dreary England to The Land of Opportunity and switching the main character's moniker from Pip to Finn? But Generation X-ers, drawn by the auras of heartthrobs Ethan Hawke and Gwyneth Paltrow, dug the film version anyway. In this rendition, Hawke plays a painter barely scraping by, until a benefactor bankrolls his work and whisks him off for a taste of the big time in New York City.

Pay-per-view premiere Sept. 11

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL DIVISION PLAYOFFS

The road to the World Series may be the most exciting excursion since the strike of '94 as fans have finally started to loosen their grudges to take some interest in the pennant races. Barring last-minute comebacks, the most likely contenders in the National League could be the New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians, Anaheim Angels and primary wild card candidates the Boston Red Sox. Meanwhile, the American League may see the Atlanta Braves, Houston Astros and San Diego Padres as division winners, with the San Francisco Giants nabbing the wild card spot.

Starts Sept. 29 on ESPN (G5, 9), Fox (F1, 5 & S4, 10) & NBC (F1, 14; S4, 6 & W1, 6)

THE FULL MONTY

When a group of disenchanted Brits get laid off at a steel plant with no other qualifications to escape the drudgery of the dole, that's when their entrepreneurial smarts kick in. Losing the shirt off your back may be a degrading experience when you're unemployed, but to these guys, it's all in the name of fun and profit, especially when they take on the male stripping trade. Far from being a Limey sex comedy, this independent outing, nominated for an Oscar earlier this year, chooses to look at the dignity of a handful of disenfranchised working stiffs as they struggle to make ends meet.

Sept. 25 at 8 p.m. (ET/PT) on Cinemax (G1, 19 & G5, 16)

NBC

Frasier*'s Kelsey Grammer: Sitcom could win Emmy for best comedy for the fourth consecutive time.

50th ANNUAL EMMY AWARDS

It's a special anniversary for television's Holy Grail, which will celebrate five decades of existence this month with tributes galore to small screen stars past and present. Other highlights will most certainly be of the crystal ball variety. Like, will Frasier repeat as the best comedy for the fourth consecutive year or will Seinfeld be given the honor as a parting gift? Speaking of which, will Jason Alexander, the only Seinfeld cast member to be shut out of the trophy department, get his just desserts by taking a prize home? Then there's ER, last year's most-watched drama, which lost out to Law & Order. Is this the year TV's most cherished medics rebound at the podium?

Sept. 13 at 8 p.m. (ET) on CBS (F1,6; S4, 24 & W1, 24)

HARD RAIN

Christian Slater got an afternoon off from serving his drug sentence to see himself in this effort, which also stars Randy Quaid and Morgan Freeman. But rumor has it that everyone else in the theater felt incarcerated watching this waterlogged action thriller. Slater is the good guy in this outing, as a young courier who is given the task of delivering $3 million across troubled waters. But his troubles start when his armoured car is caught in a massive flood and a gang of career thieves swarm in to intercept the cash.

Pay-per-view premiere Sept. 14

■NFL FOOTBALL: NEW ENGLAND vs. DENVER

One of the best matchups of the month takes place at Mile High Stadium as 1997 finalists, the New England Patriots, meet the Super Bowl champion Denver Broncos at the Colorado summit. Pivot Drew Bledsoe will match wits against Denver's favorite son, John Elway, in the first regular season game on the Monday Night Football broadcast schedule. Fans will be interested in seeing how NFL great Boomer Esiason, who replaced Frank Gifford during the off-season, will call this game. Back behind the booth will be Al Michaels and Dan Dierdorf.

Sept. 7 at 8 p.m. (ET) on ABC (F1, 2; S4, 8 & W1, 10)

PAUL SPINELLI / ©NFL PHOTOS

Denver's home opener is against Drew Bledsoe and the New England Patriots.

■WOODSTOCK/ MONTEREY POP

One film mirrors the emergence of the Haight-Ashbury hippie movement in 1967, the other chronicles the dying days of that same flower power trend two years later, but that's where the comparisons end. Both flicks offer a flashback of psychedelia for nostalgic boomers and are celluloid time capsules for Lollapalooza followers, trying to figure out where their parents' heads were at in the '60s. The real draws, of course are the artists, featuring the likes of Jimi Hendrix, Janis Joplin, The Who and Jefferson Airplane in some legendary performances.

Sept. 25 at 8 p.m. (ET/PT) & 11:35 p.m. (ET/PT) on Encore (G7, 11)

■DYING TO TELL THE STORY

In war-torn areas of the globe, journalists risk their lives for the sake of that all-important scoop which will grab the attention of worldwide audiences. It worked for Arthur Kent, whose coverage of the Gulf War earned him the "scud stud" nickname. Other newspeople haven't been as fortunate, such as Reuters photographer Dan Eldon, who was killed in Somalia in 1993. This two-hour documentary looks at the risks taken by journalists scrambling for the inside story, while trying to survive in some of the most challenging conflict zones in the world today.

Sept. 13 at 8 p.m. (ET) on TBS (G5, 6)

■JACKIE BROWN

This should settle once and for all that the previous efforts of writer-director Quentin Tarantino (Pulp Fiction, Reservoir Dogs) were anything but flukes. The whole series of subplots in this crime drama center on Pam Grier, who hasn't had a hit since her action film salad days in the '70s. In this outing, she plays a flight attendant who supplements her income with a series of smuggling endeavors. But when she gets caught in a sting operation, she is torn between coming clean with the authorities or crossing her gun-dealing boss.

Pay-per-view premiere Sept. 28

■MAJOR LEAGUE SOCCER

The tightest match may be the season-ender between Chicago and Los Angeles, who are currently battling for the first-place berth in the west. The two meet on the west coast Sept. 27 at 7:30 p.m. (ET). Chicago also visits Dallas Sept. 10 at 8 p.m. (ET) and holds the home fort against Kansas City Sept. 17 at 8:30 p.m. (ET). Tampa Bay, looking for at least a playoff position, hosts San Jose Sept. 3 at 8 p.m. (ET) and visits Columbus Sept. 24 at 8 p.m. (ET).

G7 ON BACKUP

BY PAULA E. KIRMAN, KEN REITZ, STEVEN SANDOR & ROBERT SMATHERS

INDEPENDENT FILM CHANNEL / PHOTOFEST

If Galaxy 7's backup system fails, this will force Independent Film Channel, which recently ran the highly-acclaimed Sirens, to migrate from G7,14 to another bird.

Experts at PanAmSat have been scratching their heads wondering why some of their birds keep conking out. The latest in the Galaxy line has been G7, which, in July, lost its primary system (responsible for keeping the satellite pointed towards Earth) and is relying on its backup system to maintain stability.

In May, G4 spun out of control, forcing PanAmSat to relocate its Galaxy 6 bird to the 99-degree position. PanAmSat officials still haven't said whether the two incidents are related, but were still investigating the recent failure.

COPYRIGHT FEES FROZEN

The U.S. government has put a freeze on a controversial satellite copyright tax.

The House Commerce Committee voted to pass the Multichannel Video Competition and Consumer Protection Act. Even though the Act isn't law yet, the House Committee's action is a major victory for satellite-service providers, who were outraged by a 27-cent-per-subscriber-per-signal copyright fee which was approved last fall. Satellite providers feel it is a discriminatory charge, as cable operators pay 2.45 cents for networks and 9.8 cents for superstations.

The House Committee's decision places a one-year freeze on copyright fees at the pre-fall '97 rates—which should give time for the House and the Senate to take a look at the proposed Act.

PARTNERSHIP TO HYPE BIG DISH

C-Band dealers and manufacturers have banded together in an effort to prove to consumers that the satellite system is still strong.

A new marketing plan, called the C-band Partnership, will allow C-band customers a one-stop-shop to find sales support. The Partnership will also offer a marketing program for dealers and other C-Band-related businesses.

A toll-free number, at 1-877-CBAND-TV, is now operational. If a consumer calls the number, (s)he will be hooked up with the closest C-band dealer. A web site and and advertising blitz are also planned.

The initiative is being led by Dorian Simpson of General Instrument, one of the leading manufacturers of C-Band components.

Networks and superstations are already jumping on the bandwagon. "We're confident that C-Band—the system offering the most choice and value, and the highest audio and video quality—will continue to be a viable satellite service well into the future," said Lori Megown, director of marketing for HBO.

IT'S OUTAGE TIME AGAIN!

For a week before and after the first day of autumn, the sun appears to slip behind every satellite in the Clarke Belt as it makes its way from morning to evening. The sun is actually lining up over the equator and for a few minutes its energy drowns out the insignificant power of the satellites which are also lined up along the equator.

The result is a brief loss of satellite signal known as a solar outage. Viewers in Canada will notice this phenomenon first with viewers in southern Florida affected last. Unless your dish has the surface of a polished mirror, there's not much chance your equipment will suffer from this effect.

To avoid it altogether, plan to watch western satellites in the morning and eastern satellites in the afternoon.

BIG 4 BEATEN IN SUMMER RATINGS

The ratings during the week of June 22-28 revealed that for the first time ever, more households tuned to basic cable and satellite programming during primetime than the four major broadcast networks combined.

Nielsen Media Research reported that non-network programming averaged a 23.2 rating/45 share, compared with 23.0/45 for ABC, CBS, Fox and NBC combined.

However, some industry experts argued that the ratings came out during a slow period for the broadcast networks.

One ratings point is 959,000 U.S. households, or one per cent of 95.9 million homes in the U.S. with television sets, while a share is a channel's average in terms of percentage of sets tuned in during a specific time period.

FOX SPINS OFF EMPIRE

In an effort to raise an estimated $3.5 billion and boost his company's market value, News Corp. head honcho Rupert Murdoch will spin off around 20 percent of a newly-restructured Fox television and film business. The new company will be called Fox Group and will have three main business divisions:

• Fox Filmed Entertainment, which includes the 20th Century Fox movie studio and TV programming businesses

• the Fox Television Group, which includes Fox network and TV stations

• satellite/cable networks, which includes News Corp.'s 50 percent stake in the Fox/Liberty Networks regional sports network, fX, the Fox Family Channel and the Fox News Channel.

PLAYBOY COMPLETES SPICE DEAL

Hugh Hefner's Playboy empire just got a little bigger.

Playboy has entered into an agreement to buy all outstanding shares of Spice Networks, increasing Hefner's share of the adult entertainment market. The deal will be completed by the third quarter of this year.

Steven Saril, president of Spice Networks, promises a seamless transition. There will be no interruption of service.

Spice, in its ninth year of operation, is now digital on C-band, available via 4DTV.

DIGITAL TV TO HIT 23M

Research from Strategy Analytics predicts that 11 million new users of digital TV will sign on this year, joining 12 million homes already watching digital television. According to the report, 95 percent of households have chosen to receive digital TV via satellite.

BY ROY URRICO

Hoping to wash their ratings woes right out of their hair, ABC will produce a new three-hour version of the Rodgers & Hammerstein musical South Pacific in 1999. It will star Glenn Close as Nellie Forbush. It is scheduled to coincide with the 50th anniversary of South Pacific, which premiered on Broadway in 1949. Also: Rick Schroder (Silver Spoons) will fill the vacancy on NYPD Blue this season created by the departing Jimmy Smits.

Actor George Clooney has signed separate two-year development deals with CBS and Warner Bros. TV. The CBS pact calls for Clooney to produce one 13-episode TV series and two TV movies. The deal reunites the ER star with CBS President and CEO Leslie Moonves, who cast him in the NBC medical drama when Moonves was president of Warner Bros. TV. Clooney has not committed to star in any of the projects, but could be lured onto the set once he leaves ER at the end of next season. Warner Bros. TV and Clooney will produce the projects for CBS. The eye network has also ordered six episodes of John Larroquette's Payne as a midseason replacement. It's based on the British comedy series Fawlty Towers.

Godzilla, which fell short of becoming a monster hit at the movie box office, was snatched for TV by NBC at a discount—"only" about $25 million. The network will get five runs of Godzilla over five years, beginning in February, 2001. In comparison, NBC paid $30 million for Titanic and $50 million for Men in Black. In other network news, Giancarlo Esposito, who starred in the 1993 Fox cop comedy Bakersfield, P.D. is joining the cast of Homicide. NBC's fall slate of miniseries includes adaptations of Alice in Wonderland, featuring Martin Short and Miranda Richardson, who both appeared in Merlin; an updated version of Shakespeare's The Tempest; the biblical tale of Noah and the flood; and Richard Dreyfuss as Einstein.

A study by the media watchdog group, Annenberg Public Policy Center at the University of Pennsylvania, says that the telecasters last year tailored almost two-thirds of children's programming for elementary school audiences. "However, almost half of these programs fall into our low quality category," said Amy Jordan, an Annenberg researcher who headed the study, titled The 1998 State of Children's Television Report. The study also said too many programs aimed at children contain violence and harsh language.

QUICK SPIN—Craig Kilborn (Comedy Central's The Daily Show) has been signed by CBS to take over for Tom Snyder as host of The Late Late Show sometime next year. He will continue to host The Daily Show on Comedy Central...Fox Family Channel is making a movie based on the life of Chicago Bulls superstar Michael Jordan called Michael Jordon: The Untold Story. It is scheduled for early 1999...UPN is readying an animated series based on the Dilbert cartoon for midseason.

COVER STORY

ROLL 'EM OUT!

BY ROY URRICO

For networks, fall has a double meaning this year.

MURRAY DEATLEY / ABC

Mary Kate and Ashley Olsen are Two of a Kind.

The Big Four networks (ABC, CBS, NBC and Fox) have taken a beating. They are coming off their lowest rated season ever, they have been bashed in studies about the quality of kid shows and portrayals of the workplace and family life, and upfront ad sales are down. Can the news get any worse? Well, yeah.

Cable and satellite channels and the Internet continue to siphon away network viewers. For all of the hoopla surrounding Seinfeld and ER, the two-top-rated programs of the 1997-98 season, they only attracted 12 per cent of the audience. Altogether the Big Four attracted an average of 59 per cent of primetime viewers during 1997-98, down from a 62 share during the previous season.

Exacerbating problems are rising production costs. Generating a new comedy costs $500,000-$900,000 per episode and dramas cost $1.5-$2 million an episode. Yet only 20 percent of new shows succeed. "If that one out of five is a Seinfeld, it makes everything good," said media analyst Dennis McAlpine in a May New York Daily News article. However there aren't many Seinfeld-like hits.

Higher productions costs have signaled a new priority for the networks. They have taken control of their schedules by producing more programs. In the process they risk allowing economics to overrule quality. "This signifies that people spend too much money on some things they shouldn't have spent so much on," said Jamie Kellner, WB's CEO, in an Electronic Media article. "Now they're trying to extract it out of the creative community."

Studios fear that superior, independently-produced, programs have a disadvantage over even a mediocre in-house project. This could lead to further viewer disenchantment.

CBS will produce or co-produce six out of its seven new series for a total of 13 network shows (including Caroline in the City on NBC). Fox adds two of its own new shows giving it 12 total. NBC by adding three more of its own productions for the fall brings its total to eight. Three of UPN's six new series will be from its parent company, Paramount, giving it five programs. ABC adds one to give it four shows. WB also added one for a total of four.

> "Cable, satellite channels and the Internet continue to siphon away network viewers."

Ad buyers still remain skeptical. Ad sales during the so-called "upfront market" last spring were around $6 billion, about $100 million less than last season. To attract advertisers the networks are diving deeper into their demographics and going after niche markets.

The networks are after more young adult male viewers with shows like sitcoms Sports Night, The Secret Lives of Men, and Guys Like Us; action dramas such as Martial Law, Buddy Faro; and Wind on Water, with extreme sports and women in extremely revealing swimwear.

There is also a softer side to niche TV's fall season. Light romantic comedies and relationship dramas aimed at female viewers include Felicity, To Have and To Hold, Will and Grace and All My Life.

Here is a fast-break rundown of the new fall season by network:

ABC

The preseason favorite is Two of a Kind, a comedy, featuring the Olsen twins, (Mary Kate and Ashley from Full House), who play identical twin sisters (duh!) and are opposites in every way except looks. Another sitcom to watch is The Hughleys, an ethnic family comedy focusing on a successful businessman living is the suburbs.

Other shows include the sitcoms

Sports Night, The Secret Lives of Men and Brother's Keeper; a drama, Vengeance Unlimited starring Michael Madsen (Free Willy); the return of Fantasy Island with Malcolm McDowell as Mr. Roarke; and the romantic comedy/drama Cupid with Jeremy Piven (Ellen).

CBS

Topping the new show list according to media buyers is King of Queens with Kevin James (Everybody Loves Raymond) playing the ruler of his Queens castle whose domain is invaded by his father-in-law (Jerry Stiller) and sister-in-law. Another possibility is The Benben Show, a satirical comedy starring Brian Benben (Dream On) as a trusted news anchor who is demoted to the human-interest beat.

Other new shows include the sitcoms Maggie Winters featuring Faith Ford (Murphy Brown) and To Have and To Hold; and dramas Buddy Faro starring Dennis Farina, Martial Law and L.A. Doctors featuring Ken Olin.

Sue Costello in Costello.

FOX

Fox like last season has few changes. One alteration is on Tuesday nights where it has moved its popular animated comedy King of the Hill to battle the aging Home Improvement and Mad About You.

Media analysts liked Feelin' All Right, from Bonnie and Terry Turner (creators of 3rd Rock from the Sun), called "a retro sitcom" about teens growing up in the '70s. Two other new shows likely to attract attention are Brimstone about a dead detective (Peter Horton of thirtysomething) hunting down escaped souls from Hell; and the macabre Hollyweird from Wes Craven (Scream) and Shaun Cassidy (American Gothic).

The rest are comedies Holding the Baby, Costello featuring comedian Sue Costello, and Living In Captivity from Diane English and Joel Shukovsky (Murphy Brown).

NBC

NBC could be reeling with the loss of Seinfeld. However, Frasier, which surprised many analysts by knocking Home Improvement off its high ratings perch on Tuesday nights, could surprise again by growing into the mega-hit it deserves to be on Thursdays. All My Life has been given the best chance at success of the new shows. Christina Applegate (Married with Children) plays a single mother also caring for an older brother, who has taken a vow of silence, and a younger sibling, who is perpetually between business deals. Media analysts are less sure about another sitcom, Will & Grace, about a gay lawyer named Will and his roommate, Grace, a neurotic interior designer.

Other new shows include sitcoms Conrad Bloom featuring Mark Feuerstein, (Fired Up), Linda Lavin (Alice) and Steve Landesberg (Barney Miller); Encore! Encore! starring Nathan Lane (The Birdcage); and the dramas Providence created by John Masius (Touched by An Angel); Trinity from John Wells (ER); and Wind on Water with Bo Derek and Lee Horsley.

UPN

UPN is attempting to turn away from niche programming and target a broader audience. The only new hit-show possibility, say analysts, is Legacy, a family drama set during the post-Civil War on a Kentucky horse ranch.

Other new shows include comedies Guys Like Us, DiResta and The Secret Diary of Desmond Pfeiffer, and dramas Mercy Point starring Joe Morton; and Seven Days about a CIA agent who races back in time to change history.

WB

WB continues to build strong lead-in shows. Already boasting 7th Heaven on Monday, and Buffy, the Vampire Slayer on Tuesdays, the fledgling network now moves its hot Dawson's Creek to Wednesdays. One of the media experts' favorite new shows was Felicity, described as an Ally McBeal goes to college, with newcomer Keri Russell.

Also on the schedule are the dramas Charmed with Shannon Doherty; Hyperion, starring Mark-Paul Gosselaar (Saved By the Bell) and a comedy The Army Show featuring Dave Higgins (Ellen).

PLUGGING IN TO DTH

Two ways to add a Canadian system to your existing C-band setup

BY KENNETH M. NELSON

To take advantage of direct-to-home services Star Choice and ExpressVu, you can either convert your existing C-band system to include the new programming or add Canadian digital delivery to your home TV system. Either way, if done properly and with the right installers, the results could be the best thing since microwave popcorn.

One viewer told us she had beautiful reception from her Houston Tracker IRD, but wanted the Canadian channels, so she upgraded to the Star Choice DSR 921, General Instrument's flagship IRD, with all the bells and whistles. Her dish was converted to a dual C/Ku band feed and her dealer tweaked up the system as well as he could. Although her reception of the new Canadian channels is excellent, all of her remaining C-band feeds are sparkly and not even close to the clarity she had before the upgrade.

Why? The DSR 921 is an excellent IRD—definitely not the culprit. The problem here was expertise. Her satellite dealer was new to the business and, like many these days, raised on DSS, DISH and Canadian direct-to-home (DTH) installations. The central point of any small dish system is that it's a very easy, low-skill-level process. C-band installations are of moderate skill level, and tracking dual feed C/Ku-band installs are pretty difficult, unless the dealer has the necessary years of experience. If possible, check the background of your dealer before converting your system. One way is to get a referral from someone who may have had a C-band system for years.

Here's what goes into a proper Ku-band upgrade to make a C-band dish Ku possible:

•The feed must be switched out for a quality dual band unit, then a digital TV-qualified Ku LNB is installed.

•Another RG-6 coax is run from the dish to the IRD to carry the Ku signals.

•The dish post and mount must be precision tracked, because Ku-band reception from a large dish is very unforgiving.

•The actuator arm will probably need servicing to take up any internal slack, and the position sensor system upgraded to allow for greater positioning accuracy-a must on Ku-band.

•In some cases, the IRD software must also be upgraded to cope with the new Ku requirements.

•After all this is done, the system must have all the satellites reprogrammed.

A big consideration for ExpressVu system users is that the service will be moved from Anik E2 to Nimiq 1 in the late fall. Not only is the move to a new location, but a new DBS band as well. That means the Ku LNB must be replaced with a DBS band LNBF, which will not fit on most existing C/Ku dual feeds.

Can't find Due South on shifting wild feeds? You can catch it every Sunday night on an ExpressVu or Star Choice system.

DALE MacMILLAN / EDMONTON ESKIMOS

C-band viewers can already catch CFL games on CBC, although TSN's football coverage on direct-to-home systems includes more regular season games.

Star Choice owners may also be affected at this point, as the service is considering hopping on the new Nimiq satellite as well.

Another option might be to add a totally separate Canadian digital system instead. The units all come with a dish and LNBF included, right in the box. When either system switches to a newer DBS band satellite, you get a new LNBF at no cost. Satellite upgrades are a simple five-minute re-aim, and if the worst happens, a satellite failure or a lightning blast, and the C-band system goes up in smoke or becomes useless, you should still have one intact system for family viewing. Because the new dish is small, fixed-aimed, and fed by a single coax cable, it's normally set on a south-facing wall of your house, protected from the worst of the elements by an overhanging eave. Wind and ice buildup and lightning might be a problem for your big dish out in the open, but with careful placement, your new digital dish should be living a life of ease, in comparison.

Now we've got two independent satellite feeds available, C-band and digital, maybe one or two off-air TV channels, and VCR tapes to watch as well. This sounds like the makings of a basic cable TV system. How do we get these different channels to different TVs?

A basic approach is to use the different inputs available on most newer TVs. Besides the normal cable jack, many TVs now feature one or two sets of RCA jacks for multiple direct video and audio feeds. The newest sets now also have at least one S-VHS jack to match the S-VHS jack on the back of most digital IRDs.

If it's an RCA TV, usage is easy. Channel 90 selects the S-VHS input, which would be your StarChoice or ExpressVu IRD, Channel 91 selects Video & Audio A, which could be your C-band IRD, Channel 92 selects Video & Audio B, which could be your VCR, and all the standard channels are left for your off-air or cable TV.

PIP, or Picture-in-Picture TVs, split a large TV screen into one large screen and a small one in the corner, or four medium size screens, or nine small screens; there's only one audio output selected. A touch of the remote will switch a small inset screen with the main screen. This system is great for single viewers, but obviously not suitable for family viewing very long.

The next step up is a mini-cable system. TV modulators, which convert a video and audio signal to a specific TV channel, have been around for ages. You get one for every viewing source, all on different channels, and mix them into a single coax, which goes out to every TV in the house.

For a single added source, UHF modulators, which transmit the signal on UHF channel 14, are a low-cost method to get a second signal to any TV in the house. But there are some new choices available today which can distribute signals through your house using the house wiring or the new 2.4 GHz short-range microwave link frequency. These newer distribution systems are a snap to install, and are capable of providing studio-quality video to every TV in your house. Your satellite dealer, or home entertainment specialist can guide you through the options and help you pick what's best for your home.

DTV IN A SET

BY RICK SMITH

Toshiba's new DVD player boosts digital audio up a few notches.

TOSHIBA ROLLS OUT DIGITAL LINE

Toshiba America has a new line of products planned to bring digital television (DTV) and digital home theatre into your living room.

The lineup includes a new platinum standard SD710 DVD player equipped with ColorStream outputs. To complement the DVD player, Toshiba will launch three new projection TV models, such as the 65-inch T265H80 set. Combined, these units will provide viewers with DVD at true digital resolution.

Toshiba will also offer an external DTV decoder which, when attached to a DTV compatible TV, will bring unprecedented audio videovideo television signals right to your home.

FLATTER SCREENS, FATTER QUALITY

Until recently, computer monitors have taken up a good deal of real estate on the computer desktop. With the introduction of bright, crisp, flat LCD panel screens which can be desk or wall-mounted, this space-hungry demon is a thing of the past. All this has come at a fairly high price until now.

Samsung Electronics America has announced two new models which can fit almost any budget; the 13.3-inch SyncMaster 320TFT ($799 US; $1,150 Cdn) and the 15-inch SyncMaster 520TFT ($1,399 US; $2,030 Cdn).

Each monitor with base attached is less than 10 inches deep. Mount it on your office wall and it becomes instant art. Speaking of art, the image clarity of LCD monitors is second to none and the Samsung models are no different

GETTING HI-DEF

The long-awaited announcement of high-definition television products available for your home has been the year's biggest buzz. Panasonic has entered the fray with their offering of the CT-32XF55 ($1,799 U.S; $2,600 Cdn.), a 32-inch beauty which comes feature-packed and ready for all you can throw at it.

The CT-32XF55 includes picture-in-picture, and a fine-pitch super-flat picture tube with 800 lines of horizontal resolution. Audio features include spatializer surround sound, bass/treble/balance controls, 15-watt subwoofer, a twin dome sound system, center channel audio input and four sets of A/V inputs.

DESCRIPTIONS

For airing times(s), please refer to our Today's Highlites page located before each day's grids.

HOW TO ORDER PAY-PER-VIEW

What equipment do I need?

All Pay-Per-View orders require a VIDEOpal equipped VideoCipher II Plus descrambler, or a VC RS descrambler. To check if your VideoCipher descrambler is equipped with a VIDEOpal, your Unit Address Number will begin with 02D, 040, or 041.

Open an account:

Once you have a VideoCipher equipped with a VIDEOpal, you then need to open an account. This only needs to be done once and is accompanied with a one-time small fee. To open an account call the Satellite Video Center at 1-800-548-4336.

Things to remember:

On some brands of satellite receivers, please make sure to attach a telephone cable from your home's telephone jack outlet to the telephone outlet on the back of your VideoCipher II Plus or VC RS module. This cable must be in place in order for you to order Pay-Per-View events through your remote control.

To order a current program:

1. Check the listings for the date and time of the program you with to watch. Tune your descrambler/IRD to that satellite and channel just before the program starts.
2. Press [VIEW] on your remote control or keypad to preview program selection, length and price.
3. Then press [ENTER] to order the program, and press [ENTER] again to confirm your order.*

To order the next program:

1. Choose a Pay-Per-View channel.
2. Press [NEXT] and read the title, amount of time before program begins, and price.
3. Press [ENTER] to order the program, and press [ENTER] again to confirm your order.* If you decide not to view the program, simply change the channel before the program starts. Your order will not be recorded.

To order a pay-per-view service call:

Action PPV: Call Netlink at 1-800-523-0012

Fox Sports PPV: Call 1-800-766-7766.

PrimeTime 24 WCW & WWF Wrestling Events: Call 1-800-550-2206

Turner Premiere: Call 1-800-843-9266

TVN: Call 1-800-232-4886 to register, then order with TVN's toll-free theater numbers.

*Some brands of satellite receivers may require additional steps in the ordering process. Please refer to your owner's manual.
